2. Planning Summary

The event “Money Moves: Mutual Fund Edition” was planned and executed by a team of four members with clearly defined responsibilities to ensure smooth coordination and effective audience engagement.

The marketing and audience outreach activities were managed by J. Tharun Aadithya (Reg. No.: 12306086) and Manu Prabhash (Reg. No.: 12307590). Their responsibilities included promoting the event, creating awareness among students, and managing participant registrations through Google Forms. The overall event organization, guest coordination, invitation process, and session conducting responsibilities were handled by Akshit Salgundi (Reg. No.: 12306490) and Dakshineswar M (Reg. No.: 12303280). The team focused on ensuring professional event execution and maintaining effective communication with the guest speaker.

Before initiating the campaign, the team conducted a detailed pre-analysis to identify the objectives, audience expectations, and the most suitable format for delivering the awareness session. A structured action plan and event timeline were prepared to organize each stage of the campaign effectively.

To ensure that the audience received practical and industry-oriented insights, the team searched for an experienced financial expert. Through professional connections developed during startup and entrepreneurial programs, we connected with VMIM Associates, Coimbatore, Tamil Nadu, and invited T. Vignesh Kumar as the guest speaker for the event.

After confirming the speaker and finalizing the event date, the team initiated the marketing phase by creating a Google Form for registrations and promoting the session among students and interested participants. The team also prepared a structured list of discussion topics and conversational questions for the session. Instead of conducting the event in a conventional lecture or podcast style, the session was designed to be highly interactive and engaging so that participants could directly learn from the expert through practical discussions and real-world investment insights. The final phase involved conducting the event successfully, interacting with participants, and collecting feedback from attendees. The feedback received was highly valuable and helped the team understand audience perceptions, learning outcomes, and areas for improvement.

The session began with a welcome address and introduction of the expert speaker by Akshit Salgundi (Reg. No.: 12306490). During this segment, the audience was introduced to the purpose of the event and the professional background of the guest speaker, T. Vignesh Kumar.

From 7:10 PM to 7:20 PM, the expert speaker shared insights about his professional journey, experience in personal finance, and his work in helping families achieve long-term financial stability through disciplined investment planning and mutual funds.

No.: 12306490) in an interactive conversational format with the expert speaker. The discussion focused on practical investment concerns, current market conditions, and beginner-friendly financial guidance.

One of the major topics discussed was the fear among investors due to the ongoing global war crisis and uncertain market conditions. The speaker explained that market fluctuations are a natural part of investing and emphasized that long-term disciplined investing through SIPs can help investors manage volatility effectively over time.

Several important questions were discussed during the session, including:

1.What are the important qualities to look for before choosing a mutual fund?

According to the speaker, investors should analyze the fund’s past performance consistency, risk level, fund manager experience, expense ratio, investment objective, and alignment with personal financial goals before investing.

2.Which sectors are currently in demand for mutual fund investments?

The speaker highlighted that sectors such as technology, healthcare, renewable energy, infrastructure, and financial services continue to show long-term growth potential, although sector performance may vary depending on economic conditions.

3.How important is the fund manager’s track record while choosing a fund?

The expert explained that the fund manager plays a crucial role in managing investments and making strategic decisions. A strong and consistent track record can provide confidence regarding the fund’s management quality and decision-making ability.

4.What is the risk involved in mutual funds?

The speaker explained that mutual funds are subject to market risks, including volatility, economic slowdowns, and sector-based fluctuations. However, diversification and long-term investing can help reduce overall investment risk.

5.What are the best resources to learn about mutual funds and financial markets?

The speaker recommended learning through trusted financial websites, AMFI resources, NSE educational platforms, business news channels, investment books, and continuous observation of market trends.

6.What is the best strategy for investing?

According to the expert, disciplined long-term investing through SIPs, diversification of investments, goal-based planning, and avoiding emotional decision-making are some of the most effective investment strategies.

7.What are entry load and exit load?

The speaker explained that entry load refers to charges applied while investing in a fund, whereas exit load is charged when an investor redeems units before a specified period. He also mentioned that most modern mutual funds no longer charge entry loads.

8.Should investors choose equity funds or debt funds at present?

The expert suggested that the choice depends on the investor’s financial goals, risk appetite, and investment duration. Equity funds may provide better long-term growth opportunities, while debt funds offer comparatively stable and lower-risk returns.

The session concluded after 7:55 PM with an attendee interaction and feedback segment where participants shared their thoughts, clarified doubts, and provided feedback through a Google Form circulated during the session.
